

ONE POPULAR PIG

Waterford the pig arrived at Winslow Farm, an animal sanctuary in Norton, Massachusetts, in early 2009, and a resident cat, Spring, went gaga. The two were inseparable, eating and even sleeping together. But competition arose last winter: Edwin, an orange tabby (above), fell for Waterford, too. His favorite game? Tug-of-war. "Waterford will take a piece of rope in his mouth and Edwin will start going after it," says owner Debra White. "It's remarkable. You'd never think that these little indoor cats would be palling around with a giant pig."